INTRODUCTION

by the Chancellor of the University, Dr Maurice Manning

Since its foundation in 1908, the National University of Ireland has been fortunate to receive a number of generous trusts and bequests. These funds have been invested and the income generated has been used to finance Scholarships and Prizes.

In 1998, the Senate reviewed the University's policy and, with expert advice, re-structured the NUI portfolio of investments. The change, until 2008, generated increased annual income in each of the NUI Funds, to be used in accordance with the wishes of the benefactors of the University and the decisions of Senate.

Increased funding was available from 1999 to 2008 for a wide range of awards for students, staff and graduates of the NUI Constituent Universities and Recognised Colleges. The value of existing awards was enhanced, and new Fellowships were created. In addition, the University – from its own resources – continued to offer annually a number of valuable and prestigious Studentships and Bursaries for competition amongst the graduates of the University. In 2008, in celebration of the centenary of the University, a number of special awards, including three Centennial Post-Doctoral Fellowships and two additional Travelling Studentships, was offered and in that year the combined annual value of NUI awards exceeded €1.2 million.

Since 2008, unfortunately, because of turbulence in international markets, and in particular the crisis in banking, there has been a decrease in the income available to NUI for awards. Regrettably therefore, the Senate has taken the decision to postpone the offer of the Post-Doctoral Fellowships due to be offered in 2009, to freeze the value of certain awards and reduce the value of others. NUI has sought as far as possible to maintain the range of its awards, recognizing their increased importance for students and scholars at this time, and will make every effort to rebuild its funds for the future.

This booklet gives details of the range of NUI awards, including awards for postgraduates, awards for graduates, awards for students and supports for academic publishing.

The Senate is satisfied that through these awards it is enabled to further the primary objects of the University as a learning institution dedicated to:

- the enrichment of Scholarship and research,
- the advancement and communication of knowledge,
- the promotion of cultural development, and particularly, the encouragement of Irish language and culture,
- the pursuit of equality of educational opportunity.

The Senate remains committed through its awards to recognising the excellence of the students and scholars on the campuses of NUI, creating opportunities for collaboration and the formation of closer bonds between the members of the federation and developing a stronger sense of identification with the National University of Ireland.

2.1 NUI Travelling Studentships (€42,000, i.e. €14,000 per annum, for three years)

The NUI Travelling Studentship Scheme, funded by the University from its own resources has been in existence since 1910, continuing an earlier scheme established by the Royal University of Ireland, which preceded NUI. The NUI Travelling Studentship Scheme has as its main objectives:

- to encourage the most able students in the NUI federal system to pursue research
- to enable these students to undertake postgraduate research abroad, in the most reputable universities, towards a doctoral degree, and
- eventually, to attract these scholars back to enrich the learning community within NUI.
- While, traditionally, it has been the practice that holders of Travelling Studentships should be registered abroad for their studies, it is also permissible for the holder of a Travelling Studentship to register in an NUI institution and complete a doctorate within NUI, where the research programme involves a substantial period or periods abroad. Six Travelling Studentships will be offered in 2009, on the basis of a common competition open to graduates, as follows:

2.1(i) Four Travelling Studentships are allocated to the Humanities and Social Sciences and are open to graduates in all branches of the Humanities and Social Sciences.

2.1(ii) Two Travelling Studentships are allocated to the Sciences, and are open to graduates in all branches of the Sciences.

Open to NUI graduates, the Scholarship is intended to encourage postgraduate research within the NUI in the field of education. The NUI would wish, through the Scholarship, to encourage research related to Irish higher education and accordingly, preference will be given to applications in this area. However, applications will be accepted in relation to projects in any area of educational research.

Regulations are set out in Appendix 6, page 37.

The closing date for entries is Friday 24th April 2009.

The Medal was offered annually until 1956, when the French Government increased the number of Medals to three, for competition amongst students of the then Constituent Colleges. In 1962, a fourth Medal was added, to be awarded in the then Recognised College, St. Patrick's College Maynooth. These Medals are now awarded annually in each of the four NUI Constituent Universities. The awards continue to be based on the results of the Honours Degree examinations in French for the BA Examinations and also, where applicable, the BComm International/European and BCL International Examinations, in the Constituent Universities. The recommendation regarding the award of the medals is made by the Extern Examiner in French in each of the four NUI Constituent Universities. ### 3.2 The O'Brien Bequest Awards

Dr Daniel P. O'Brien was born in 1872 at Crecin, Tullow, Co. Carlow, and, as a student of St. Patrick's Seminary, Tullow, he matriculated in the Royal University of Ireland in 1890. Having completed his medical studies in the Catholic University School of Medicine, St. Cecilia Street, Dublin, he obtained the qualification of LRCP & SI in 1895 and the Fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons in 1897. He was on the staff of St. Vincent's Hospital, Dublin, for some time. Later in 1911, he passed the MB BCH BAO degree examination of the National University of Ireland. He was in active practice in Rockhampton, Queensland, Australia for nearly forty years. Dr O'Brien bequeathed £3,320 in 1947 to the National University of Ireland.

This bequest is used to fund awards as follows:

3.2(i) The NUI Award Scheme for Students with Disabilities (€11,000)

Under this scheme, which is in operation since 1981, awards with a total value of €11,000 are provided for new entrant undergraduate students who have serious physical disabilities and who propose to pursue primary degree courses in the National University of Ireland. In 2009, individual awards of up to €1,000 will be provided to new entrant undergraduate students, who are registering for the first year of a primary degree course of studies, in one of the Constituent Universities or Recognised Colleges of NUI, and who have serious physical disabilities. Applicants are required to submit evidence of their disability with their completed application forms.

Regulations, Terms and Conditions are set out in Appendix 7, page 39.

3.2(ii) The NUI Equal Educational Opportunities Scheme (€12,000)

While significant welcome progress in this area can be acknowledged, the persistent social inequalities in Irish higher education continue to pose a major challenge for Irish universities. NUI is committed to promoting greater social equity in Irish higher education through securing increased participation in the Constituent Universities by economically disadvantaged students. To provide further support, the Senate has introduced an NUI Equal Educational Opportunities Scheme to support a student or students in economically disadvantaged circumstances. In the academic year 2009/10 the sum of €2,500 will be available in each Constituent University, and €2,000 will also be allocated for the Recognised Colleges.

On the recommendation of the NUI Recognised Colleges Committee, it has been agreed that this funding will be allocated annually in rotation among the Recognised Colleges. In 2009, the funds will be allocated to the National College of Art and Design.

Decisions on the granting of these awards will be made by the Senate Standing Committee, on the recommendations of the Constituent Universities and the Recognised College concerned.

There are no special application procedures or entry requirements.

3.3 The NUI Club London Scholarship (€2,000)

On 14 February 1929 a dining club for graduates of the National University of Ireland (including the Royal University of Ireland) was formally established at a dinner in Frascati's Restaurant, in London and, two years later, the club moved into unfurnished rooms at 91 Shaftsbury Avenue. In November 1931 the Senate of the NUI provided a grant of £150 to assist in the initial furnishing of the Club which, in 1935, moved to 13A Lower Grosvenor Place. The aim of the club was to provide a centre in London for Irish graduates – 'a home from home for young graduates, where they could meet people of their own kind with an Irish outlook! This important extra-mural outpost of the National University survived and functioned throughout the difficult period during the war and post-war years. In 1949 Professor H St John Atkins, President of University College Cork, initiated the bi-annual Senate lectures, whereby, in rotation for many decades, each of the NUI Constituent Colleges arranged for two members of its academic staff to deliver a lecture, sponsored by the NUI Senate, to the members of the NUI Club, London. From the 1930s to the latter part of the twentieth century the Club successfully carried out its function of providing a social and cultural focus for NUI graduates in London.

At a meeting of the NUI Club, London in November 2003, the members – acknowledging that the Club membership had been declining steadily during the previous fifteen years – approved a recommendation from the President of the Club, Mr Michael McCormack, that the Club should be dissolved and its assets offered as a gift to the National University of Ireland for the purpose of establishing an NUI Club London Memorial Scholarship. Welcoming the generous gift from the NUI Club London, the NUI Senate at its meeting in January 2004, approved the Registrar's proposal that the bequest be used to establish a Fund ('The NUI Club London Fund') to yield an annual income for the purpose of providing a Memorial Scholarship, to be known as 'The NUI Club London Scholarship', in accordance with regulations and procedures to be determined by the Senate, from time to time. This Scholarship, introduced for the first time in 2004-05, is placed on offer for competition amongst students registered in a different Faculty/College each year as determined by the Senate. In 2009, the Scholarship will be awarded to a student in Early Childhood Studies.

There are no special application procedures or entry requirements.

4. NUI PUBLICATIONS SCHEME

NUI has a number of schemes designed to encourage and support scholarly research and academic publishing. In the main these are funded from the NUI Publications Fund.

4.1 Grants towards Scholarly Publication

The University has traditionally provided a number of grants-in-aid annually towards scholarly publications by staff of the NUI Constituent Universities, on the basis of individual applications to the Senate. The scheme is open to full-time and part-time staff of the NUI Constituent Universities and Recognised Colleges. Under the scheme, grants of up to €3,000 may be awarded, following the Senate's consideration and approval of recommendations submitted by the NUI Publications Committee, which considers applications at its meetings in June and December.

Application Forms are available from the Registrar, NUI, 49 Merrion Square, Dublin 2 or may be downloaded from the NUI website www.nui.ie.

Regulations are set out in Appendix 8, page 40.

4.2 ÉIGSE: a Journal of Irish Studies

Since its foundation NUI has been particularly committed to the promotion of scholarly research in the field of Irish studies. A first Journal Lia Fáil was originally under the editorship of Dr Douglas Hyde. This was succeeded by Éigse, A Journal of Irish Studies published by the University since 1938. Originally published with the aid of the Adam Boyd Simpson Bequest, Éigse is now published through the NUI Publications Fund. Professor Pádraig A Breatnach of the Dublin Institute for Advanced Studies and formerly of UCD has edited the journal since 1986.

Enquiries to eigse@nui.ie, or see www.nui.ie/eigse

4.3 The O'Donnell Lectures

Charles James O'Donnell, born in Donegal and educated in Galway, provided a bequest in 1935 to each of the Universities of Oxford, Wales, Edinburgh, National University of Ireland and Trinity College Dublin. The bequest provided for an annual lecture in NUI on the history of Ireland since the time of Cromwell – with particular reference to the histories, since 1641, of old Irish families – the lectures to be published by NUI. The series began in 1957 and continued until 1986, when the fund became depleted. They were revived by NUI in 1999 and have been presented in the NUI Constituent Universities in rotation between 1999 and 2004. The NUI Centennial O'Donnell Lecture was given by Professor Mary Daly in UCD on 18 November 2008; the lecture was entitled The Irish Government and the Irish Diaspora

A full listing of the O'Donnell Lectures published by NUI is available from the NUI Office, 49 Merrion Square, Dublin 2 or may be downloaded from www.nui.ie.

5. NUI GRANT TO THE CONSTITUENT UNIVERSITIES

The Thomas Crawford Hayes Fund Scheme

Thomas Crawford Hayes, son of Frederick W. Hayes, a mill owner, was born at Seapatrick, Banbridge, Co. Down, on October 18th, 1843. He entered Trinity College, Dublin, in November 1861, as an Arts student. There he won a Senior Moderatorship and was a Gold Medallist. Later he left Dublin for London, where he qualified in Medicine in 1870, obtaining the Licence of the Society of Apothecaries, London. In 1873 he obtained the MB, BCh Degrees of Dublin University, followed two years later by the MD Degree and in 1889 he became a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, London. He resided in London from 1900 until his death on April 5th, 1909.

In 1922 Miss Isabelle Hayes bequeathed £27,600 to the National University of Ireland, in memory of her late brother. Under this scheme, each of the four NUI Constituent Universities receives an annual grant from the Thomas Crawford Hayes Fund, and is intended to be applied in the broad area of the Biological Sciences, as determined by the Trustees from time to time.

PART TWO: OTHER NUI AWARDS (not on offer in 2009)

1.1 The NUI Post-Doctoral Fellowship in the Humanities and Social Sciences (€80,000)

This Post-Doctoral Fellowship in the Humanities and Social Sciences, funded by a special NUI Fund, was due to be offered for competition amongst NUI graduates in 2009, but as the result of the reduction in funding available, has been postponed.

The value of the Fellowship, when it is on offer, is €80,000, i.e. €40,000 per annum to be paid in instalments, over a two-year period. For the purpose of the Fellowship, the Humanities are defined as including subjects in all branches of the Humanities and Social Sciences.

General Regulations governing Travelling Studentships

In 2009, six Travelling Studentships will be placed on offer for competition amongst holders of primary degrees of the National University of Ireland, as follows: four will be allocated to the Humanities and Social Sciences and will be open to graduates in all branches of the Humanities and Social Sciences. Two will be allocated to the Sciences and will be open to graduates in all branches of the Sciences, as defined in the regulations for the competition. NUI Travelling Studentships are tenable for three years.

Objectives of the NUI Travelling Studentship Scheme

The Travelling Studentship Scheme, in existence since 1910, has as its main objectives:

- to encourage the most able students in the NUI federal system to pursue research;
- to enable these students to undertake postgraduate research abroad, in the most reputable universities, towards a doctoral degree.

While traditionally, it has been the practice that holders of Travelling Studentships registered abroad during their Travelling Studentships, it is also permissible for the holder of a Travelling Studentship to register in an NUI institution and complete a doctorate within NUI, where the research programme will involve a substantial period or periods of research abroad.

Eligibility

Candidates applying for Travelling Studentships must have obtained their primary degree in the National University of Ireland. See the individual rubrics for the two competitions for eligibility details governing the Travelling Studentships on offer in 2009.

Value of a Travelling Studentship

€42,000 (i.e. €14,000 per annum, paid in quarterly instalments, over three years).

Entry Procedures for Travelling Studentship Competitions

Application forms are available from the Registrar, National University of Ireland, 49 Merrion Square, Dublin 2, or may be downloaded from www.nui.ie.

General Conditions of Tenure

(i) Conduct of research in approved venue

Each Studentship will be held upon the condition that the recipients during each year of their tenure thereof apply themselves to research in the subject area in which they obtain a Studentship, or in some cognate line of research approved by Senate. Such research shall be pursued wholly or partly outside Ireland in such places as the Senate may direct, and under the direction of a Professor/Director of a University or of some other person selected by the recipient and approved by the Senate, or by such authority as the Senate may direct.

(ii) Six-Monthly reports

Holders of Studentships are required to submit a report, every six months, from the Professor/Director under whom they are studying, confirming that they are satisfactorily pursuing the research work of their Studentships. Further payment of Studentship instalments may be withheld, unless the Senate considers such a report satisfactory

(iii) Postponement In special circumstances, the Senate may consider an application from the recipient of a Travelling Studentship for the postponement of the tenure of his/her studentship. Such applications must be recommended by the relevant NUI Professor concerned.

(iv) Studentship recipient who has other funding

Where the recipient of a Travelling Studentship is also in receipt of funding from another source/s in this or any other university or institution, details should be included with the application, or, where appropriate, made known in advance of the interview. Where the value of such other funding is substantial, this may be taken into account by the Senate in the awarding of the Travelling Studentship.

(v) Power to withdraw

The Senate shall have power to withdraw the award of a Studentship if, in the opinion of the Senate, the recipient was guilty of any misconduct in connection with any examination for, or used unfair means to obtain the award of any such Studentship.

Closing date for Applications

APPENDIX 8

Regulations governing Grants toward Scholarly Publication

The University has traditionally provided a small number of grants-in-aid annually towards scholarly publications by staff of the NUI Constituent Universities, on the basis of individual applications to the Senate. The scheme under which these grants were made has been expanded and the level of funding increased. The scheme is open to full-time and part-time staff of the NUI Constituent Universities and Recognised Colleges.

Under the scheme, €40,000 will be made available in 2009 for individual grants of up to €3,000 each, which may be awarded following the Senate's consideration and approval of recommendations submitted by the NUI Publications Committee. This Committee considers applications at its meetings in June and December. In 2008 more than thirty applications were approved. The Regulations under which the scheme is operated are set out below.

1. Members of staff, both full-time and part-time, of the Constituent Universities and Recognised Colleges of the University and post-doctoral fellows are eligible to apply under the Scheme.
2. The main purpose of the grants is to enable writers to secure publication which would otherwise entail undue personal expenditure.
3. The Scheme is administered by the NUI Publications Committee appointed by the Senate.
4. The Committee will make its recommendations concerning grant applications to the Senate following consideration of
  - (a) the literary or scientific value of the work,
  - (b) the cost of publication and
  - (c) the writer's opportunities of securing alternative means of, or aid towards, publication.

In addition, the following general guidelines will normally apply:

- (i) grants will not be paid for publications considered to be commercially viable;
  - (ii) grants will not be provided for research or travel;
  - (iii) grants will not be paid for page charges for journal articles or for reprints of articles;
  - (iv) grants will not be paid for rights payments;
  - (v) grants will not be paid for self-publication; preference will be given to publications by reputable national and international publishers;
  - (vi) grants will not be paid retrospectively;
  - (vii) grants are not intended to provide full cost recovery but to contribute towards the total cost of publishing.
5. The Committee will deal directly with writers and the Committee's grant may be made subject to specified conditions, or may be given in the form of a guarantee.

6. The Committee reserves the right to consult an independent assessor concerning any application.

Note:

The Publications Committee meets in June and December to consider applications made under the scheme. Applications should be submitted to the Registrar, National University of Ireland, 49 Merrion Square, Dublin 2 by 1 June for consideration at the June meeting, and by 1 December for the December meeting.

The following documentation must be included with the application:

- a short summary of the scope and content of the work together with a statement as to its approximate length;
- evidence that in the process of publication, the work will have been subject to expert critical evaluation and that the final text will reflect any changes resulting from that evaluation. Accordingly, applicants (or their publishers) are required to present at least one, but preferably two, readers' reports on the work in question. The reader must be independent: a report from a Departmental colleague will not be accepted. The Committee reserves the right to consult an independent assessor or assessors concerning any application;
- a statement from the publisher indicating a commitment to publish the work and setting out the detailed costs of publication.
